GENERAL STATEMENT

History and Location The School of Law was established at Loyola University by the Jesuits in October 1914. The first faculty was organized by the Honorable John St. Paul, then Judge of the Court of Appeal for the Parish of Orleans, and later an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Louisiana. Classes were held at night in Alumni Hall of the old College of the Immaculate Conception in downtown New Orleans. After the first year and until 1931, the School of Law was housed in Marquette Hall, on the campus of Loyola University. The day division was organized in 1925. In 1931 the School was moved to the ground floor of Bobet Hall, which was occupied until June, 1941. From September, 1941, until May, 1942, classes were held in Biever Hall. Since May, 1942, classes have been held in Thomas More Hall at 6333 St. Charles Avenue.

Objectives To develop future members of the bar who, in addition to being expertly trained in legal knowledge and procedure, are possessed of a philosophy of law enabling them in the highest sense of the word to become a credit to themselves, to their profession, to their country and to their God—this is the objective of Loyola's School of Law.

“Since law is concerned with man and the society made up of men, a philosophy of law has meaning in the exact degree in which it reflects a valid philosophy of man and of society. It is the contention of Loyola University's School of Law that there is only one valid philosophy of man, namely, a philosophy which considers man a creature, made by God, made for God and going back to God and that man's creation by God as a rational being is the unique source of the dignity of man, the supreme value of the individual, the sanctity of the human person, and of inalienable rights. A denial of this philosophy is tantamount to reducing man to the level of a highly developed animal and of founding the ultima ratio of law on physical force—the germinal idea of all totalitarian systems of government. The acceptance of man as a creature of God destined for life beyond the grave is the corner stone upon which Loyola builds its philosophy of law. Man, endowed as he is, with intellect and free will, is to be directed not by the physical law of lesser creatures, but the objective moral law to which he is bound in conscience to conform.”

The principles defining what is morally good and morally bad in human activity are promulgated and sanctioned by the natural law as the expression in rational nature of God's design for man. In virtue of the natural law man is vested with certain rights and obligations. These rights and obligations are every man's endowment in virtue of his very nature; they are beyond the reach of men and government. It is the high purpose of human law to protect the right of each by assuring the reign of justice for all. Therefore, human law cannot be exempted from the directive influence of the natural law without in varying degree exposing the juridical process to the arbitrary will of men—this is the sole basis of a just and sound legal system. Thus human law is valid law only to the extent that it reflects directly or indirectly the dictates of the natural law.

It must be noted, however, that while in its principles the natural law is inflexible and absolute, the applications of these principles can and do vary according to the concrete circumstances of time and place. It is for this reason that Loyola's School of Law accepts without qualification the following observation of Rev. William J. Kenealy, S.J., Dean of the Boston College School of Law: [from The Majesty of the Law, 5 Loyola L. Rev. 101 (1950)]

The construction and maintenance of a corpus juris implementing the natural law is a perpetual and monumental task demanding the constant devotion of the best brains and the most mature scholarship of the legal profession. For the fundamental principles of the natural law, universal and immutable as the human nature from which they derive, require rational application to the constantly changing political, economic and social conditions of civil society. The application of the natural law postulates change as the circumstances of human existence change. It repudiates a naive and smug complacency in the status quo. It demands a reasoned acceptance of the good, and a rejection of the bad, in all that is new. It commands a critical search for the better. It directs an exhaustive search into all the available data of history, politics, economics, sociology, psychology, philosophy, and every other pertinent font of human knowledge. And, of primary importance, it insists that the constant search for a better corpus juris be made in the light of the origin, nature, purpose and limitations of the state; and in the knowledge of the origin, nature, dignity and destiny of man. This traditional American philosophy of law is opposed today, even within the legal profession, by the philosophies of positivism, pragmatism, realism and utilitarianism—all of which have an ideological common denominator in subjectivism, and none of which can offer an adequate reply to the destructive philosophy of totalitarianism.

The members of the faculty in the School of Law are deeply conscious of their responsibility to the student body. They are vitally aware that the profession demands very much more from a lawyer than mere legal learning. Because of this awareness the faculty wholeheartedly accepts natural law philosophy as the integrating factor in the entire law school curriculum.

Period of Study and Requirements for Degree The curriculum of studies covers a period of six semesters for full-time students and eight semesters for part-time students. All of the students in the evening division are part-time students. Classes are held in both divisions from Monday through Friday. In the evening division classes are held from 7 to 10 P.M. The requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Laws are 78 credit hours of work in the school as outlined in the bulletin.

Approved School The School of Law is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and is approved by the American Bar Association, which approval is dependent upon meeting and maintaining certain standards as to entrance requirements, faculty, library, and curriculum. The School of Law is also registered as an approved school by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York.

Courses of Study The tradition of the civil law is a strong influence in Louisiana. Much of the curriculum in the School of Law is planned for the Louisiana Civil Code and the Code of Practice. Nevertheless, the American case-law technique is emphasized. Basic work is offered in jurisprudence and legal theory. The variety of courses is sufficient to permit students from other states than Louisiana to study at Loyola in preparation for practice in their home states.

Law Library The Loyola Law Library is a basic working tool for today's law student, as well as a repository of research materials for the scholar. Its more than 25,000 volumes are available every day to students. It includes the complete National Reporter System, and reports of all federal courts, of the court of last resort of all states to the Reporter, of appellate courts of several states, reports of England, of France, and of the annotated systems. Depositories of United States and State of Louisiana documents are housed in the library. Annotated statutes of many states and the federal government are available, as well as publications of administrative agencies. Holdings include Shepard's citators for the entire National Reporter System, the American Digest System, leading state, federal and English digests, general, special and legal encyclopedias of England, France and this country; complete sets of most of the leading legal periodicals and indexes; and a balanced collection of texts and treatises in law and allied fields. Too, the University library is conveniently located near the law building.

The law library of Chief Justice Edward Douglass White, which was donated to the School of Law, together with gifts of numerous volumes from Branch Knox Miller, Judge Charles Parlange, Judge John St. Paul, Rev. Jerome Mullin, S.J., J. M. Lepeyre, T. J. Semmes, W. C. Staub, Edward K. Wunderlich and Charles T. Soniat, and other donors, form a part of the collection.

Research Reading Room In addition to the general law collection, a special library and reading room is dedicated to research in Civil Law. This collection contains one of the most complete groups of French authorities in the State, together with Roman, Spanish, Swiss, and other national legal literature. Other units in the Room are a valuable historical collection of editions of Louisiana codes, and an international law section enriched by having been a depository of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

The faculty and students of the School of Law wish to acknowledge with sincerest gratitude the various donations made by Miss Leonora Del Bondio to the School of Law, which made it possible to improve its facilities and equipment.

Student Organizations The Delta Theta Phi national legal fraternity, has established a chapter at the School of Law, to which law students are eligible for membership. Likewise, the Phi Delta Delta national women's legal fraternity, has established a chapter at the School of Law, to which women law students are eligible for membership.

The St. Thomas More Law Club was established in 1935 by the students of the day division, and all law students are eligible for membership. The law club, under the patronage of the English martyr and saint, is devoted to the stimulation of interest in organized legal research on the part of its membership, and particularly in the preparation and argument of mooted cases before appellate tribunals.

The St. Ives law sodality is open to all Catholic students in the School of Law and administers to the spiritual welfare and needs of the members.

The Student Bar Association was organized in the Spring of 1952 and is comprised of all students enrolled in the day and evening divisions of the law school. It is governed by an Executive Council of seven members elected from the student body. Its purpose is to provide a means for closer unity among all students and to foster mutual cooperation and understanding between the law student body and the law faculty. The Student Bar Association of Loyola is a member of the American Law Student Association.

Law Review The faculty and students of the School of Law publish annually the Loyola Law Review. Through this medium all upper-classmen are afforded opportunities for legal research and writing. The officers of the student board are chosen from the high-ranking students of the senior class.

Legal Aid Program In cooperation with the Legal Aid Bureau of New Orleans upper-classmen in the School of Law are afforded the opportunity to assist in the handling of criminal and civil cases in which the Bureau is authorized to act. Students work under the supervision of the staff attorneys. The experience acquired in interviewing clients, in engaging in legal research, in conducting investigations and in drafting legal documents and pleadings is of much value as a supplement to the education of the student and beneficial to the community.

Office Practice Course This is a practice course in the examination of land titles; procurement of title insurance; the closing of F.H.A., V.A. and conventional loans on real estate; the preparation, execution and requirements of acts of sale, mortgage, powers of attorney, acknowledgments, leases, mineral leases, liens, releases and wills. Consideration is given to minimum fee schedules and office procedures. It is a one hour non-credit course available to all upper-classmen in the School of Law.

Awards and Prizes THE FACULTY AWARD is given annually to the senior in the School of Law who has maintained the highest average over his entire law course.

THE ALLEN SMITH COMPANY AWARD is given by the company on the same basis.

THE DEAN'S AWARD is given annually to the student who has maintained the highest average during his first year in the School of Law.

THE HENRY L. SARPY AWARD is made each year by Mr. Leon Sarpy to the student in the School of Law who has excelled in the course in Louisiana Practice.

THE LAW SCHOOL ALUMNI COUNCIL AWARD is given annually to the member of the Student Editorial Board of the Law Review who has made the most significant contribution to the Loyola Law Review in the field of research and writing during the academic year. The award is given with a view to stimulating student work in the Law Review.

THE AMERICAN JURISPRUDENCE PRIZES, consisting of copies of separately bound titles from American Jurisprudence on a number of subjects, are offered by the Lawyers Co-operative Publishing Company and the Bancroft Whitney Company jointly. These prizes are awarded to the highest ranking student in each of the courses indicated, and the selection of the winners is determined by the professors teaching the respective courses.

THE BUREAU OF NATIONAL AFFAIRS AWARD of a year's subscription to the United States Law Week is given each year to the graduating student who shows the most satisfactory scholastic progress in his senior year.

THE STUDENT BAR ASSOCIATION AWARD is given to the participants in the Annual Appellate Court Competition between the Farrar Senate of Delta Theta Phi, national legal fraternity, and the St. Thomas More Law Club.

THE OSWALDO V. RAMIREZ AWARD is given to the participant who in the opinion of the judges makes the best individual argument at the trial.

THE ST. THOMAS MORE LAW CLUB AWARD is given to the finalists in the Freshman Moot Court Competition sponsored by the Club.

Requirements For Admission Applicants for admission to the School of Law must be of good character. They must have completed their eighteenth year at the time of registration. The prerequisites for pre-law school training are fixed according to the standards of the Association of American Law Schools and the American Bar Association. Applicants to the School of Law must meet a three-year minimum requirement; they must present satisfactory proof that they have completed "at least three-fourths of the work acceptable for a bachelor's degree granted on the basis of a four-year period of study in residence either at the state university or a principal college or university in the state where the school is located." The average of all pre-law school work must include grades in all courses a student has attempted and the average must be equal to that required for graduation in the institution where the work is done.

Pre-Legal Program and Combined Courses There is no prescribed pre-legal course. Students in the College of Arts and Sciences, who wish to enter the School of Law, are advised to study subjects in the field of social science, English literature and composition, and philosophy.

By a proper selection of courses in the College of Arts and Sciences of the University or the College of Business Administration and in the School of Law, a student may complete the requirements for two degrees in less than seven years. Pre-legal students electing to take the combined course must have the approval of the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences or the Dean of the College of Business Administration when they begin their pre-legal work.

Advanced Standing Students who have successfully pursued a portion of their law course in an approved law school (that is, a school which is a member of the Association of American Law Schools or approved by the American Bar Association), and who are able to meet the entrance requirements of this School of Law, will receive credit for work successfully pursued in such approved school. The right is reserved to refuse such credit in whole or in part, and credit given may be withdrawn for poor work. At least one year's residence is required of advanced students or they will not be eligible for a degree. Therefore, credit given for work in another law school shall not exceed two years.

A student who has attended another law school, and who has been excluded for defective scholarship, is not eligible for admission to this School of Law unless special permission is obtained, which permission shall be in the discretion of the Dean. Special permission will be granted seldom and then only in unusual cases.

Special Students Persons who do not meet the pre-legal requirements may be admitted as special students. They cannot become candidates for degrees. The number of persons who may be admitted in any one year as special students is controlled by the regulations of the Association of American Law Schools.

Applicants who wish to qualify as special students are advised to apply to Professor Clarence M. East, Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Special Students, for the necessary forms and regulations.

The following general regulations apply to all special students:

- (1) The applicant must be at least 23 years of age.
- (2) There must be some good reason for thinking that the applicant's experience and training have specially equipped him to engage successfully in the study of law, despite the lack of the required college credits.

Examinations and Special Regulations Examinations are given at the end of each semester. The alphabetical system of grading is used.

The quality of work indicated by these grades is as follows:

Grade	Quality of Work
A.....	Very Good
B.....	Good
C.....	Satisfactory
D.....	Unsatisfactory
F.....	Failure

No student will be examined in any course in which he has failed to attend at least seventy-five percent of the scheduled classes. No grade or credit will be given for any work done in such cases. Students are advised to consult with their various professors when they suspect that they have an excess of absences which would make it impossible for them to attend the minimum number of classes. The faculty accepts no responsibility to inform any student of his excessive number of absences prior to the issuance of the grades.

A student eligible to take an examination in any course under the preceding paragraph may voluntarily withdraw at any time before the examination is given. In the event of such withdrawal no grade or credit of any kind will be given for the work in the course.

In the case of a student who does not voluntarily withdraw but fails to appear for an examination the following action will be taken:

(1) Upon timely petition addressed to the Faculty, the student may where he presents evidence of sufficient cause, such as, personal illness, death in his immediate family or detention out of town by a failure in transportation facilities, be permitted to take a deferred examination. The record of the student will list the course as "Incomplete." Such examination shall normally be completed the next time students are examined in the course.

(2) In all other cases the record will carry the notation "absent from examination" and no grade or credit will be given for any work done in the course.

To be eligible for graduation a student must have earned 78 credits and he must have earned quality credits equal to the total number of hours in the courses he has attempted including those he has failed but excluding those from which he has been dropped because of failure to attend the minimum number of lectures, and those for which he has received no credit because of withdrawal or failure to present himself for examination.

Quality credits are earned according to the following schedule:

Grade	Quality Credits per Credit Hour
A	3
B	2

Every student in his first year in the School of Law must secure a weighted average of .75. (The weighted average of a student is determined by dividing the total number of hours scheduled in the School of Law into the number of quality credits earned.)

Every student at the end of his second year in the School of Law must have earned a weighted average of .90 on his entire record.

Every student at the end of his third year in the School of Law must have earned a weighted average of 1.00 on his entire record.

Any student who fails to meet the requirements as above set out in his first and second year in the School of Law will be excluded. Any student who has been excluded from the School of Law for failure to meet these requirements will be readmitted only by special action of the Faculty.

No full-time student will be permitted to schedule more than fourteen hours of law work or work in another department of the University in any semester without special permission from the Dean of the School of Law.

No full-time student will be permitted to schedule less than ten hours of law work in any one semester. No part-time student will be permitted to schedule less than six hours each semester unless it is impossible for him to choose that many from the courses that are offered.

A student whose work is unsatisfactory during any semester may be denied permission to carry a full schedule during the following semester.

Students registered in the School of Law will not be permitted to register for courses in any other school without special permission from the Dean of the School of Law. Permission will be granted only to upper-classmen in special instances. Even in those instances no one will be permitted to take more than three hours of work in another school while he is enrolled in the School of Law.

Fall semester grades will be announced to the students on the mid-semester date of the spring semester.

Tuition and Fees Fees are paid in two installments during each semester of the scholastic year. One-half is payable on the day of registration and the other half at the mid-semester date as published in the calendar. Any other arrangements for payment must be made before the completion of registration with the Treasurer of the University.

Full Time Students The following are the fees in the School of Law:

Fees are payable at time of registration. Such other fees above mentioned, which might apply, shall also be charged.

All applications for Student Loans, except those from incoming freshmen, must be submitted to the Dean of Students at least one month before registration day of the semester for which the loan is requested. A loan covering full amount of tuition and fees may be granted for the first semester. For all subsequent semesters, loans may be granted up to one half the amount of tuition and fees.

All Students Students will be taxed for excessive breakage or destruction of University property. The decision covering each case will be made by the University. Until a student's indebtedness is paid in full, no transcript of credits or record of his work will be released from the University.

Refund Policy It is the sole duty of the individual student, in case of interruption of courses, to make formal application to the Registrar's office for refunds, which will be made as follows:

Within first week of semester.....	80%
One week to three weeks of semester.....	60%
Three weeks to five weeks of semester.....	40%
No refund after five weeks.

No refunds are made when a student is suspended, dismissed for disciplinary reasons, or fails to pass in prescribed or elected courses. Refund policy applies on basic fee only. Special consideration regarding refunds will be given to students either voluntarily entering the Armed Services or being drafted.

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES

GENERAL

Admiralty The course treats admiralty jurisdiction, the right of seamen and maritime workers under the general maritime law and appropriate federal legislation. Local compensation and wrongful death statutes are considered. Special attention is given to the contract of affreightment and the influence of the Harter Act and the Carriage of Goods by Sea Act. The remainder of the course deals with limitation of liability, marine insurance, maritime liens, salvage, charter-party clauses, general average and collision.

Sprague and Healy, Cases on Admiralty.

Mr. East, Three hours.

Canon Law This course touches briefly upon the basic principles of canon law, the constitution and government of the church, the law of marriage and the ecclesiastical judicial procedure. The fields of law in which both church and state claim competence will be studied with a view to clarifying the general principles according to which solutions of individual problems in these fields can be reached.

Selected materials.

Fr. Hiegel, Two hours.

Equity This course treats of the origin and development of courts of equity and their fusion with courts of law under modern codes. It deals further with the jurisdiction and powers of courts of equity, special attention being given to injunctive reliefs, specific performance, equitable conversion, the Statute of Frauds, and equitable servitudes.

Walsh, Cases on Equity.

Mr. Redmann, Two hours.

International Law This is an introductory course on the theory and practice of international law. It deals principally with such topics as the nature and sources of international law, the members of the world community and their recognition, the jurisdiction, nationality and territoriality of states, the international administration of justice and the law of war. Positive international law is presented within the framework of natural international law.
